Each lecture is designed for 45 minutes, during which a speaker will not only reveal one of the topical issues of the school's topics, but also present practical cases.

Abstract of the VI Summer Online School of Foreign Law – 2025

The VI Summer School of Foreign Law is held to raise the level of knowledge and professional training of students, lawyers and specialists interested in modern legal trends in the field of international law. The program examines current issues of regulating technological innovations, digital transformation and their impact on the national legal systems of the BRICS and EAEU countries. Special attention is paid to the issues of harmonization of international regulations in the field of e-commerce, intellectual property, data protection and cryptocurrencies, as well as mechanisms for international cooperation in the field of transnational technologies. The participants of the event are offered an overview of current challenges and prospects for the development of international legal regulation in the context of globalization and the digital revolution. The development of modern legal mechanisms contributing to the strengthening of international cooperation, analysis of foreign legal approaches, comparative legal research is impossible without timely exchange of relevant scientific information, experience in the regulation of social relations in the new conditions of international cooperation.

Scientific discussion within the framework of the discussion of relevant lecture material of recognized Russian and foreign scientists on various problems of interaction between law, economics and social partnership, as well as the educational orientation of the Summer School of Foreign Law will allow to achieve tangible results in solving specific legal problems that arise in the modern world.

Within the framework of the Summer School of Foreign Law all the identified aspects of the problems of law in the new conditions of digital transformation of public relations. In their reports, the lecturers of the School from the standpoint of law, economics and political science will: answer the questions about through what mechanisms, in what ways and for what purposes the interaction of these three spheres is carried out; develop the idea of differentiation of the legislation of different countries, regulating the status of business entities and forms of their relationships; consider the important question of how the current rules of various countries correspond to the new realities in which we live, as well as what is the role of law and social partnership in the modern world. The search for answers to these questions is extremely important not only from a theoretical but also from a practical point of view.

The Summer School of Foreign Law has become a good tradition of transferring the best experience from leading legal scholars to the younger generation of lawyers, undergraduates and graduate students. The school allows you to form new knowledge and competencies on topical legal issues.

Among the lecturers of the school are scientists from Russia, Brazil, Indonesia, Ecuador, Africa, India and China.

Registration of participants is until June 24, 2025.
